WORKING PEOPLE OVER CORPORATIONS

FOR TOO LONG, greedy corporations have used extreme measures to stop working people from exercising their right to join together to negotiate for better wages and working conditions. Passing the Protecting the Right to Organize (PRO) Act would finally give us a chance to return economic power to working people.

The PRO Act would strengthen our weak labor laws and stop companies from breaking them. It would stop companies from retaliating against workers for exercising their democratic rights. It would help newly organized employees negotiate a fair contract. It also would ban permanent replacement workers during strikes, and eliminate state “right to work” laws that have lowered wages and eroded health care and retirement benefits.

These reforms would give working people the opportunity to gain back a fair share of the profits they help create. Ask your representative where they stand on the Protecting the Right to Organize Act, H.R. 2474, and whether they will co-sponsor this important bill.

Grassroots activism like yours will allow us to pass the PRO Act and fix our country’s labor laws. Help us build an economy that works for all working families, and not just the wealthy and well-connected.
